

Family Resemblances

Children often have physical features that resemble those of their parents and grandparents. But is there a Watson ancestry look that spans generations?

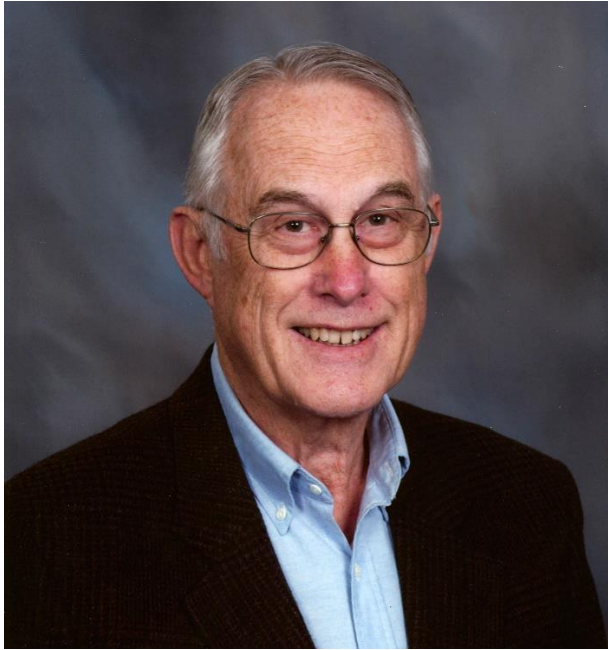

If you've ever wondered if there is a Watson ancestry look that spans generations, here is your chance to compare cousins from different generations and decide for yourself!

Joe Wasson and Hugh Wasson, Jr. are first cousins – their dads John and Hugh were brothers. Do you see any family resemblance between these Watson ancestry cousins?

Let's move down a couple more generations to Joe's grandsons, brothers Boyd and Walter Wasson, and their third cousins and Hugh, Jr.'s grandsons, brothers William and Barnabas Wasson. Do you see any family resemblance between these Watson ancestry 3rd cousins?

Perhaps the Sawyer-Prescott-Bush line is stronger than the Watson line, although after so many generations, it would be pretty diluted. Do you see any family resemblance between brothers Boyd and Walter Wasson and their 9th cousin President George Herbert Walker Bush?

Let's try another Watson pair. Do you see any family resemblance between 6th cousins Justin Wasson of Iowa and Jamie Boyd (a Wason through his great grandmother) of Dailly, Ayrshire?

Their beards may be a bit overwhelming. Here are pictures of Justin and Jamie without them.

Another one of our Scottish cousins, Alec Wason of Girvan, Ayrshire, has posted several photos of himself to social media.

Do you think that you resemble Alec?

Perhaps from another angle.

Here's a view of Alec from behind. As you can see, Alec is a cheeky lad. Do you think that you have the "Watson butt" in common? If so, send me a picture, and I'll include it in a future update.
